The Timberline Collection is ideal for achieving the classic look of wood frames with the unique attributes of aluminum. Perfect for contract framing jobs, projects that require security system installations, and truly archival treatments.

The strength of aluminum with the traditional look of wood

Structure of aluminum allows sleek, narrow profiles that join securely and provide more stability than wood

No warp or twist means easy joining and less scrap for greater profitability

Aluminum is inert, making it the perfect archival material for framing

Nielsen hardware channel accommodates security locking system

Engineered wood finish is impervious to humidity
